

"LET'S TALK GROCERIES," Ann Gutierrez discusses the food drive with Ann Levinson, chairperson

New board members

They're doing it for kids

Both newly elected school board members--Arthur Willardsen and John Kazalunas--said they chose to be on the school board because of their concern for their own children who are in the Rialto schools.

"I want to make sure my kids and everybody else's get the best education possible," said Willardsen, a local dentist. "I think I can help the most by being as honest and having the most integrity as possible. Also, just by being available for communication," he added.

"I don't know what my top priority for the board will be. I have to find out what the board has going right now," he added. "I'd like to get the upcoming contracts negotiated to the satisfaction of everyone." As for any changes for Eisenhower, He said he is not aware of any yet.

"Mostly I want to see quality education in Rialto," said Kazalunas, a psychologist for the Colton schools. "I think people have to be reoriented to its school board and its purpose. I would also like to be a facilitator for the board and bring my educational background into the schools," Kazalunas added.

"I want to be a part of and a guide for an educational change in Rialto. I also hope to bring the community, teachers and board better communication," he added.

Kazalunas said he thinks Eisenhower is due for some physical changes.

Allan Battaglia, the only incumbent, was re-elected to a four-year term. "I have helped the school board all my career and I value my experiences on the board as a way of helping the new board members," he commented.

"I have to finish the unfinished work on the school board," he continued, "I have good relations with the members and staff on the board, and I feel that I have done a good job as a school board member."

Battaglia said his top priorities include "distruption in the secondary levels and more discipline especially in the junior high levels."

"I don't have any specific changes in mind Eisenhower at the moment," he added.

Student council sponsors blood drive set for Nov.29

Eisenhower High School will be having its second blood drive Nov. 29 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in the south wing of the gym. "Last year, many people benefitted from the 81 units of blood donated from Eisenhower," commented Marianna Fowles, donor recruiter for the San Bernardino and Riverside counties blood banks. Students and staff can participate in donating. Students must be at least 17 years of age and obtain parent permission. Eighteen-year-olds and over need no consent.

"We want to get as many people who are eligible to donate," stated Susie Stewart, chairman of the blood drive committee. Others on the committee include Sandy Pempeck, Jackie Schatz and Vince Kasperick.

"When it comes to giving blood, don't be chickens. Be eagles. Donate," will be written on posters placed around campus.

Each donor must have a mini-physical which includes blood pressure, pulse and temperature reading and a hemoglobin test.

"It is a good idea to eat breakfast before donating," stated Fowles.

Refreshments will be given to those who give blood.

Nurses from the blood bank will be sent to help the donors. Many schools in the Inland Empire participate in the cause.

The last blood drive at Ike was in the spring.

Senior pranks starting much earlier this year

"Seniors do not realize that there are some senior pranks that do not cost money," commented Harold Kinsler last week.

Although it is only November, seniors have started pranks...approximately seven months before graduation.

A small white plaster hill with an eagle on top was placed in the quad recently. "The gardener had to take his spare time to take care of it," said Kinsler.

Also a press board "80," displayed on top of the gym, was blown down by the wind. "Someone could have been injured if they had been around," Kinsler said.

Other damage, not necessarily done by seniors, was the theft of the new bells on some of the buildings, and the campus was toilet papered last week. "This caused the janitor to have to skip cleaning a few rooms in order to get the toilet paper cleaned up," Kinsler added.

"All of the pranks cost money in one way or another," he said.

Attendance procedures not too clear

Whether or not students are to be dropped from class after ten absences per quarter is not exactly clear...to students or to teachers.

According to the "attendance procedures" distributed to teachers in June and again Sept. 10, "action by the teacher and counselor is to be taken" after the absences.

However, most teachers did not realize that following the procedure and using the attendance cards were mandatory.

"I don't see how the card could be mandatory," commented Dave Daniels, English teacher. "The amount of work would be extraordinary."

Daniels made an informal survey of teachers to find out if they were aware the student drop procedure is mandatory. According to the survey, "no one knew," he said.

Harold Kinsler, vice principal, said last week, "It is required that teachers go through the procedures and contact the parents."

These procedures entail the counselor making parental contact by phone or conference.

If this unsuccessful, counselors are to send post cards.

After 20 absences in a semester, action will be taken through Kinsler.

However, dropping the student is up to the teacher's discretion, Kinsler explained. "The teacher has the option of either dropping or issuing the student an F," he added.

Basketball homecoming planned

"Basketball homecoming on Feb. 1 will be great this year," commented Gina Smith, sophomore class president.

A senior queen, junior darling and sophomore sweetheart will be selected. Voting for the candidates will take place in all third period classes.

Sophomore officers are in the process of looking for a band for the dance following the game.

"The band we are looking for is one that will play a little of everything," Smith explained.

in your eye

Help for handicapped	2	Corinne Nunez runs	6
Pros and cons of draft	3	Eagles to meet Cardinals	7
Turkey contest	4
Cheap Trick	5	Bad behavior at assemblies	8

Canned food drive begins

The annual food drive hosted by student council is now underway to "provide food for needy families."

Ann Gutierrez, junior class social chairman, said that canned foods provided by students will be distributed to "unfortunate families around this area."

The drive is being held twice this year for the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

All canned foods should be taken to cafeteria stage.

Renyle who?

Just who is Renyle Jackson?

A transfer from Clovis, New Mexico, or a girl who transferred from Bonita High School in Laverne, California?

This problem was faced by Ike counselor Joanne Kuiper recently when Renyle Jackson from Clovis asked to drop her last period class because she wanted a job.

Unbeknownst to Kuiper or Renyle number 1 another Renyle Jackson was registered with a different schedule. Thinking a mistake had been made with Renyle #1 schedule, she sent Renyle #1 to drop all of the "mistake" classes.

So off went Renyle #1 to drop the classes starting with Journalism 1st period.

When she arrived a surprise greeted her. In that class was a girl with her name, Renyle Jackson but who transferred from Bonita High School in Laverne.

So who knows? Somewhere, sometime when you least expect it, someone may step up to you with your name.

WILL THE REAL Renyle Jackson please stand up? photo by Mike Vidal

We want you to prove that you're a turkey

We, the food loving Eagle's Eye staff, feel that it is high time the students of our fine school have an opportunity to display their talent and creativity in the area of cooking.

And since Thanksgiving is right around the corner, it's only appropriate that the food should pertain to this feast day.

All you have to do is whip up one of your favorite turkey day dishes and bring it to the Eagle's

Eye room for judging.

And yes, you guessed it, we will be the judges. That's right, the EE staff will scarf all of the entries and decide the "I'm a Turkey" champ.

Now, you're all probably saying, "Hey, what am I going to get out of this stupid contest?" Well, fear not, on top of negative vibes! Just for entering, you will receive the coveted "I'm a Turkey" ribbon! Doesn't that wet your competitive appetite?

And get this: the grand champion will win a year's supply of classified ads! That means that you can send messages to your friends or enemies once every two weeks. (What did you expect — $50 per back?)

So don't delay. Don't turkey out. Bring your entry to J-3 on Wednesday, Nov. 21 by 9:30 a.m.

Below are a list of rules and your entry form.

1. All entries must be edible (non-toxic, non-poisonous, etc.)
2. Unfortunately, entries must be non-alcoholic and non-drug oriented. (What a drag, There go those yummy marijuana brownies.)

3. All entries must be homemade. (We don't want to see any Pepperidge Farm cakes incognito, O.K.?)
4. All entries must be Thanksgiving oriented.
5. All entries should be enough to feed at least a few hungry staff members.

For cancer in laboratory rats?

"What are you most thankful for during the Thanksgiving holidays?"

Porsche Cleveland, 10: Not dying after eating one of Eisenhower's state tacos.

Miss Grove, 10: That I got out of Rialto Jr. High. Now all I have to do is leave Eisenhower and I got it made.

Jim Raymond, 12: That I don't live in Fontana.

Shanna Trubett, 12: I made it be a junior this year and that I don't have Mr. Mason for English.

Grant Davera, 11: My girlfriend and my guitar.

Cindy Bartleigh, 11: For my friends that really care.

Nadia EIFattal, 10: For all the people at EHS that made me feel welcome.

Mary Piacco, 12: That everyday I'm able to make it out of the EHS parking lot ALIVE.

Julie Kessinger, 12: For a fantastic new band director.

Marty Horenburg, 10: That men and women are working together to fight cancer in laboratory rats.

Linda Bannis, 11: For my fantastic friends and for Mike.

Carolyn Woods, 11: That weekends are made for Michelob.

Tracy Rollie, 10: I'm most thankful for being goofy and making people laugh.

Mark Nash, 12: For the vacation.

Lisa Wasson, 11: Good friends and bottle of wine.

Elaine Pinola, 11: Love, peace, sex and drugs.

Karl Johnson, 12: The new great looking sophomores.

Russell Wygant, Math teacher: A united district-wide staff and all the friendships that were developed the first two weeks of this year.

Paul Reise, 12: Baltimore booting the Angles in the '79 playoffs.

Cheryl Stochare, 10: I'm most thankful for being able to ditch and not getting caught.

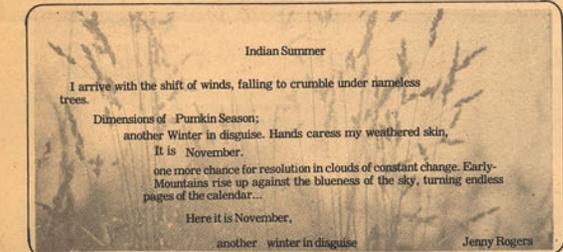

Sandra Scott, 11: I'm most thankful for being able to pass all my classes so far.

Colleen Crocker, 11: That my sister moved out.

Jill St. John, 12: My easy schedule.

Dwayne Johnson, 11: Getting my drivers license.

Delbert Bredy, Vice Principal: Good health.

Indian Summer
I arrive with the shift of winds, falling to crumble under nameless trees.
Dimensions of Pumpkin Season;
another Winter in disguise. Hands caress my weathered skin,
It is November.
one more chance for resolution in clouds of constant change. Early-Mountains rise up against the blueness of the sky, turning endless pages of the calendar...
Here it is November,
another winter in disguise
Jenny Rogers

Plymouth Pilgrims celebrate the first Thanksgiving

The first Thanksgiving was celebrated in December of 1621 when Governor Bradford announced the first day of fasting for thanksgiving in the Pilgrims in the little colony of Plymouth.

Harvests were gathered every year, and thanks were given but Thanksgiving Day did not become nationally celebrated until 242 years later, during the Presidency of Abraham Lincoln. In 1789 with a request from Congress proclaiming Nov. 26 Thanksgiving Day. At first it was only observed in the northern states. In 1864 President Lincoln set aside the fourth Thursday in November as an established holiday.

Classies

ERIC H.: how's your book on your life coming along? Jackie
BRIAN: I've read "It's you that need" Love Linda

RANDI'm into the beach look, you should come into 3rd period E.E. more often signed "First Lunch"

WIENER: have you considered making your own jelly? Love Munchkin

GRUBBER: your really a nice guy...Lori
ELLIANA: how's pablot? shame on you, you should know better Your Pal Shorione

LORI D.: Thanks for being someone special! David
MARK BANCONE: I love you thanks for everything. Millase

VANADESTINE: you can use my blusher anytime you want! Munchkin
BRUCE & CONNIE: If you can spend the time spreading the rumor you can spend the time getting the facts from me. Love Jinx

DILL PICKLE: happy birthday and party on! Westhopper, Battlerie Surf
LIZ HUGHBANKS: you got it good! The Toilet Paper Gang

THE OPERATION was successful! my patient died! The Med Scientist

MIGHTY MIKE: you're looking mighty good to me! Secret Admirer
VARSITY FOOTBALL: you're still #1! In our hearts
AOUCLA class section

S-QUE: oowee baby, it's wanda-poo oowee mama! B-boo AWESOME ANGLIC: thanks for being such a great partner. Stay Alive! Both

ANN'S MOM: You're welcome for the pictures. Looking forward to next year. Love, John CORINNE & Cody: Thanks. You're looking real good. Secret Admirer.
BOB & HAPPY: Thank you for wearing your pants. You really make my day! Guess who?
ATTENTION: Wednesday Afternoon Social Club - don't give up hope. Something good is going to happen. Congratulations on getting long promised. Love you both. Pam.
RANDY: Awesome. You're looking fine (especially just your trunk) Your Secret Admirer.
Adele: Thanks for being such a great friend and being there. Love, Jody MARK Adams: So beautiful! Learn to kick the...
KURTIS: Your mom looks so nice! Kiss her.
CATHY and Carol: Happy Eighteen! Party on! Bachelor Jr.

North Rialto Drug
875-2131
173 E. Baseline

"I'm a Turkey" Contest Entry Form

Name _____
Age _____ Grade _____

What is your entry suppose to be _____

Thank you for your time and effort.
Good Luck and Happy baking.
(Turkey.)

Creating with cast iron

Thanksgiving was a time of joyous feasts and celebration as well as many hours of labor for the Pilgrim women.

Break out your cast iron pot, light the kindling in the fire and give these original pilgrim recipes a try. You will give a solemn prayer of thanks to modern society and tender loving care to your microwave oven.

- Pumpkin Pudding
- 2 cups fresh pumpkin meat
 - 1/2 cup molasses
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/2 teaspoon ginger
 - 1/4 teaspoon allspice
 - 4 eggs
 - 1 cup milk

Bake pumpkin, cut in halves and cleaned of seeds, 300° until pulp is tender. Scrape pumpkin pulp from the skin and press it thru a strainer to remove the fibers. Beat the eggs with a fork until they are yellow.

Add the cinnamon, ginger, allspice, molasses, milk, and eggs to the pumpkin. Bake until a knife inserted comes out clean. About 1 hour. 6-8 servings.

Hotch Potch

Hotch Potch was always served at Thanksgiving in the city of Holland and Leyden, where Pilgrims lived before they came to the New World.

- 1 large onion
- 2 medium turnips
- 2 carrots
- 1 teaspoon dried parsley
- 1 teaspoon dried basil
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
- 1 chicken cut in quarters
- 2 teaspoons black pepper
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 lamb chops

Peel and chop onion. Peel the turnips. Wash the carrots.

Put the chicken, onions, carrots, turnips, salt and pepper into a six-quart pot with a tightly fitting lid. Cover with cold water. Bring to a boil. Turn heat to low. Cover, simmer for 2 hours.

During the last 20 minutes of simmering, melt the butter in a frying pan. Turn heat to medium. Put in lamb chops, brown them on both sides. Add the browned lamb chops to the soup. Simmer for another 20 minutes and serve. 6 servings.

The RAZORS EDGE

Precision hair styling for both men & women
2194 Lugo Ave. 885-2111

BRIGGS & STRATTON - TECUMSEH - HONDA
LINTON - YORO - SNAPPER - MELANE - LAWN-BOY
RUBENAN - TRU-CUT - WEED-EATER
HOMELITE - ECHO - PO-EER - STIHL
KOHLER SERVICE DISTRIBUTOR

Dan's Lawnmower Center
SALES - SERVICE - PARTS
DANIEL E. HIRTZ
Phone: 875-0811
862 W. RIALTO AVE.
RIALTO, CA 92376

Rick Nielson

Cheap Trick's Dream Police destined to become 5th hit

One of the hottest bands on the California scene, Cheap Trick, has released their newest album: Dream Police. This their fifth album, is proof of the musical development of Robin Zander, Tom Peterson, Rick Nielson, and Bun E. Carlos as a group. Talent displayed in earlier albums is highlighted on Dream Police.

Side one starts off with the title track of Dream Police which is receiving the most air time "on the radio" of any song on this disc. It is followed by Way of the World, The House is Rockin' (with domestic problems) and ends with what could be the greatest song done by Cheap Trick, Gonna Raise Hell, which combines outrageous bass and vocals in the longest song ever done by C.T. Short of a concert, I'll be with You Tonight starts off side two, followed by Voices, a Beach Boyish song laced with subliminals. Writing on the Wall and I Know What I Want add volume and Need Your Love, one of the hits off their soon to be platinum Live at Budokan album, ends side two.

Cheap Trick has conquered California in the same style as the Beach Boys did in the 60's and Dream Police is further propaganda of the invasion. Critics may not think that Cheap Trick has the freshness they displayed in the past but I advise you to listen to Dream Police several times before judgment is passed.

Cheap Trick fans in the Inland Empire are further advised to keep Dec. 29 open as Avalon Attractions present Cheap Trick live, in concert at the Swing Auditorium. Cheap Trick will also rock in the New Year at the Forum in Los Angeles Dec. 31.

by Steve Janik

Tom Petty Heartbreakers keep rock and roll alive

In times when many rock groups are either turning out disco songs or are spending years in the studio turning out overly polished albums lacking in live intensity, people like Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers are a welcome change.

Tom Petty, the 27-year-old guitarist/singer/songwriter has been working with relatively little recognition at trying to prove that the tradition of American rock and roll is alive and well, for some time now.

The recent release of their third LP entitled, "Damn the Torpedoes" may be just what it takes to catapult Tom Petty and his Heartbreakers to rock stardom. The Heartbreakers, which consist of Mike Campbell on guitar, Ron Blair on bass, Benmont Tench on keyboard, Stan Lynch on drums and Petty are all from the Gainesville, Florida area. Campbell and Tench traveled with Petty to California back in 1973 by way of VW bus. It was for the next three-years that Petty experienced "the lean years" living in a $8 a day East Hollywood apartment while struggling as a solo artist for Shelter records.

It wasn't until 1978 that things began to fall together. Tom Petty and the Heartbreaker were together and they released their debut LP entitled, "Tom Petty and the Heartbreakers." The album went virtually unnoticed until the band toured England and gained recognition on the basis of live performances. They soon were touring the states behind an average selling single, "Breakdown."

Their second album was called, "You're Gonna Get It," and it featured such standouts as "I Need to Know," "Listen to Her Heart," and "When the Time Comes."

After the completion of "You're Gonna Get It" Petty was plagued by legal hassles dealing with record promotion and the turning over of his contract to another company.

The turmoil and confusion Petty felt during this period surfaces on his latest offering on the Backstreet label.

Highlights on "Torpedoes" include "Refugee," "Don't Do Me Like That" and the emotional "Louisiana Rain." While the album on the whole is very good, it would have benefited with a couple of stronger tunes to fill out side two.

In "Century City" Petty mocks the legal profession, which stems from spending so much time there consulting with lawyers over the future of his career.

Also noteworthy on the LP are "Here Comes My Girl," "Even the Losers" and "Shadow of a Doubt."

With excellent live performances, which feature no feminine mannerisms on Petty's part, and albums packed with great songs, Tom Petty has what it takes to go a long way, if record buyers would just realize that "Anything That's Rock and Roll's Fine."

by Jon Ferguson

Disco phenomenon heading toward obscurity? Time will tell

There's a fad that's been going around for quite a while, and it's hit big with a lot of people. It started with "Saturday Night Fever" and since then it has attracted many followers, young and old, but it's left the rest cold.

Some people can be pleased only with the quality sound of good music played by "rock" stations everywhere, and when they meet one of these people, they let you know it. But how often do you hear from them? Not often enough. It seems that these days disco is put up too high, and good ol' "rock n' roll" is left to rot. But some people won't let this happen.

Steve Dahl, possibly this nation's leading anti-disco enthusiast, has made his mark by holding the world's record for smashing disco albums into pieces, as well as inhaling helium, thus doing his Bee Gees' imitation on his radio show, but mostly by his hit release "Do You Think I'm Disco?" sung to the tune of Rod Stewart's "Do you think I'm sexy?"

It was played on many "rock" stations throughout last summer. Dahl's anti-disco hit appeared many times on the "Dr. Demento" radio show in KOLA FM, accompanied by a more outward piece entitled "Disco Sucks" which states that Disco's big right now, but it's gonna fade away.

EHS principal, Jan Button, whose brother owns a Restaurant/Disco, stated, "Disco is just a fad. I've tried it a couple times because my wife made me, but I wouldn't try to get good at it. I'm kind of embarrassed to get out there and dance."

But, then, getting out there to dance can do considerable damage to the feet, ankles and lower shins. If you enter your local disco, you may catch that dreaded disease: disco feet.

Don't laugh it's for real. Due to the movement of the ankles during the dance, the waxed floors, and the high heel shoes worn by women, permanent damage can be done.

Disco has a repetitious beat and poor musical quality. Many disc-jockeys or "D.J.'s" in the Inland Empire area don't care for it at all. Mike Mathews of KMEN claimed, "I personally wouldn't buy a disco album or take on into my home."

Ziggy of KCAL stated, "It has its place I don't care for it myself. It's very tiring. They're carrying this thing too far." When asked if he thought disco is losing its popularity, Ziggy said, "I have thought that for months I guess that's because the disco stations themselves are declining."

D.J. Van St. James, also said he feels disco is going down-hill. It is very possibly may fade away, or could we get that lucky?

by Jim Ely, Mike Galvin and Steve Sherlock

November and December Concert Calendar

Bob Dylan - Nov. 18-21 at the UCLA Royce Hall.
Earth, Wind and Fire - Nov. 18, 19 and Dec. 8 at the Forum, L.A.
The Police - Nov. 21, at the Raincross Square, Riverside.
Chicago, War and Chick Corea - Nov. 23 at the Forum.
Bob Marley and the Wilers - Nov. 23 at the UCLA Poly Pavilion.
Grateful Dead - Nov. 25 at the UCLA Poly Pavilion.
Iggy Pop - Nov. 30 at the Stardust Ballroom.
Fleetwood Mac - Dec. 4-6 (sold-out) also Dec. 10, 11 (tickets available) at the Forum.

George Carlin - Dec. 14 at the UCLA Royce Hall.
Cheap Trick - Dec. 29 at the Swing Auditorium.
DEVO - Dec. 31 at the Long Beach Arena.
Tickets are available at Ticketron offices and some ticket agencies.
875-6123

745 E. Foothill
Rialto, 789-6876

FREE FRIES

If You Don't Receive Your Order In 1 Minute After Your Order Has Been Taken

DONNA SANCHEZ leads the way for the girls cross country team which finished second to Redlands overall in the CBL finals. (Photo by Terry Russell)

Runs with revived girls CC

Nunez proves no surprise

by Kelly Knowles

It's not surprising that Corinne Nunez is an outstanding runner for the girls cross country team at Ike. She started to run seriously at the age of 8 for the Rialto Roadrunners and has been running ever since.

Nunez started running because she wasn't interested in other girls sports.

During the season Nunez "very happy" about her performance at the Mt. Sack meet. She had a low course time.

Last year there was no cross country team and Nunez only ran track. She said there was not enough interest to have a team.

In 1976 Nunez went to Mexico City as a member of the AAU team of the United States. She was 14-years-old, the youngest member of the team. In Mexico, she helped set a mile relay record which is still holding today. The team had two days of competition and then three days of relaxation at Mazatlan.

Nunez started training by running 10 to 15 miles per day but now runs 6 to 7 miles per day while in season. Nunez runs in the Cal State mountains for home meets and has run in other meets at Mt. Sack, Dana Hills, Bia Park and Saugus.

In league Nunez and her team mates ended the season last week in third place after a loss to Redlands, 17 to 42. Despite the loss, Nunez's hopes have not dampened as she and her team mates will go on the CBL finals and then on to CIF.

Six in individual CBL tennis playoff

Six tennis team members were to participate in the CBL individual playoffs this week.

In number one doubles were Susie Paul, 12 and Sandra Sparks, 11; number two double: Beth Bataille, 12 and Angie Russo, 10; number one singles: Kristel Hoffman, 10 and trying for the position of number two singles were Connie Munson, 12 and Ivy Pascua, 10.

Can the girls end a not-so-impressive season with CBL victory?

"I hope so. I think we'll do pretty good!" says team captain Paul.

we can get an easy draw, then we have a good chance," says Paul, probably the team's top player, according to coach Lynn Cox.

The only three-year varsity player on the team, Paul doesn't think tennis will be on her schedule when she enters the University of Redlands next year.

"I can't play tennis and get good grades at the same time. I'll still play but I don't think I could even make the team."

Ivy grows to new heights

Watch out, Chrissie Evert! Ivy Pascua is smashing her way into the big time.

Only an EHS sophomore, Ivy is one of the top players on the varsity tennis team.

An all-around athlete, Ivy says she "wants to be number one" before leaving Eisenhower.

"She has the potential and desire to go far," says coach Lynn Cox.

Cox said Ivy's forehand, aggressiveness, placement of shots and control are her strong points. Ivy said her backhand volley is her biggest weakness.

"Pressure isn't a problem, except when my opponent is better than me," replied Ivy to a question about match play.

Watching the pros on TV inspired Ivy to try tennis about five years ago.

Bjorn Borg and Evonne Goolagone are idolized by Ivy, but she compares her two-tisted backhand and baseline game to that of Chris Evert.

Ivy doesn't see a world ranking in her future, but "a college career is my main goal after Ike."

Eagles lose cross country crown

After going through a most satisfying season in Eagle cross country history, the team's hopes of capturing the CBL title were finally put to rest last week when

San Geronimo with its star Richard Perez leading the way, won a narrow victory over Pacific for the league title at Prospect Park in Redlands.

During the meet a personal milestone was set when the course record time was broken by Richard Perez of San Geronimo at a time of 14:47.1, breaking the old record 15:39 held by perennial IKE superstars

Chuck and Frank Assumma. Even though the course was 30 yards short of the regular three-rule distance, Redlands coach Dennis Kennedy said Perez's time would stand as the record.

San Geronimo with a 7-0 CBL dual mark, won the boys varsity race with 80 points. Pacific (4-3) fell short with 61 points to finish second. The Ike cross country teams finished fifth with 105 points, with Ike's Mario Garia finishing fifth in the boys varsity race with a time of 15:54. San Geronimo, Redlands and Pacific now advance to the CIF 4A team competition tomorrow at Lake Castaic.

Girls fare well

Ike's girls fared well in the CBL.

IVY PASQUA awaits a return service in a recent Eagle tennis match on the EHS courts. (Photo by Mike Vidal)

Lady cagers return for '79-80 season

"I think we will have a good team this year," said Kelly Knowles, senior and one of the three returning players for the girls basketball team.

Other returnees are Jane Matthews and Lori Dietsche, both juniors.

Tryouts for returning players for girls who have been participating in other sports were last Monday. The season starts.

About 20 new girls began practice on Oct. 24, according to Jeff Perkins, coach.

"The skill level in general is higher than last year," he commented. "It seems that every year the team gets stronger and stronger."

A new JV coach will be selected this year, he added.

WISHING WELL FLORISTS
Flowers for every occasion

739 W. Highland
GUS PARRA
FLORAL DESIGNER
SAN BERNARDINO, CALIF. 92405
882.3328

Johnson's Hardware 115 S. Riverside
Rialto (714) 875-1821

Eagles to turn out the lights on CBL tonight

by Derek Baultman

After a season of injuries, Eisenhower's varsity football season will come to a close tonight when the Eagles travel to San Bernardino to meet the hapless Cardinals.

The 7:30 p.m. contest will be the Citrus Belt League finale for both teams.

Two weeks ago the Eagles fell prey to suspect officiating and a last minute Pacific rally.

The disappointing 18-13 loss almost ended the Eagles hopes for a 4th straight appearance in the CIF playoffs.

Also lost, was Eagle tailback Alex Holmes. Holmes was injured (knee) just before the end of the first half. He had rushed for 70 yards up to that point.

Ike's playoff hopes were completely shattered last Friday evening, when the San Geronimo Spartans dealt the Eagles a 28-8 setback, thus enhancing their own chances of making the CIF playoffs.

The Spartans have not appeared since 1972. Ike will miss for the first time in three years.

San Geronimo trailed first, when an Eagle punt was blocked about the ten-yard line. Mike Estes who blocked the punt fell on it in the end zone. Jim Minjares added the first of his four PAT's to give the Spartans a 7-0 lead.

After the teams exchanged punts, San Geronimo quarterback Troy Thomas hit flanker Tony Fuller on a 40-yard pass play and Minjares was once again successful and the Spartans were out in front, 14-0.

Third string quarterback Kevin Goodly nearly got the Eagles on the board just before the half, but fullback Joe Hernandez was stopped on the one-yard line just as the first half came to a close.

Goodly was in, due to the fact that Mitch Harris re-injured his ankle and back-up Kerry Sorenson is out with an injury. The sophomore did well considering the circumstances, as the Eagles dropped their third straight.

Goodly hit Roland Elias late in the third quarter. However, Elias fumbles while being dragged down at the five yard line. On the ensuing play Jimmy Minton ran 92 yards to the Eagle three. As the fourth quarter began Melvin Lucas went over from the one and the Spartans led, 21-0.

The Eagles got their only score of the evening after Pancho McKinney scored the Spartans final touchdown making it 28-0.

Alex Holmes took the ensuing kick-off and raced 50 yards down the left sideline for a touchdown. Rodney Robinson ran in the two point conversion making the final 28-8.

The Spartans out rushed the Eagles 21 to 50 (the Eagles abandoned the run early in the game), but the Eagles picked up more yardage through the air, 177 to 153.

Ike is now 3-4 overall 2-4 in the CBL.

ALEX HOLMES breaks away from Spartan pursuer. (Photo by Mike Leonard)

L-o-n-g on sports: CIF spells death for Ike teams

by Jim Long

For the first time in three-years, Ike's football team will not be in the CIF playoffs. Yet the chances that the team would have gone any farther than the first round are not good. At least past history would seem to dictate that.

Ike teams have a habit of getting whipped in the playoffs. There are exceptions to the rule, such as the 1978 girls volleyball team that went to the quarterfinals of CIF action or the 1959 Eagle football team that went all the way to the CIF championship.

Basketball superstar Vince Hinchen was the only player in all of San Bernardino County to be elected All-CIF last year.

Chuck Assumma placed 5th the state meet last year. The mile relay team of Floyd Lang, Kevin Birks, Keith Thompson and Dennis Turner also wound up in the state track meet.

This is the time that there are prize athletes in this tin-box school. In fact, if ever there was a time to be proud of individual athletes, last year was it.

Alas, if ever there was time to want a paper sack over your head, last year may have been it also, for with the exception of the mile relay team and the girls volleyball squad, most (if not all) teams and athletes who made it to the CIF playoffs didn't make it past the first round.

This included a CBL titlist in both football and basketball. Long Beach, Wilson stunned a 21 and 2 Eagle basketball team while Fountain Valley (future CIF champs and third-ranked at the time) crushed the gridders 27 to 16.

What's worse is that this habit of winners that were beaten quickly is not limited to last year, but has been going on for several years.

Now this does not necessarily mean that winning Eagle teams choke when it's time for postseason action. Nor does it mean that the athletes or coaching is bad. For the most part, the talent is there and it is coached well.

Only three schools usually have a say in who wins which title or playoff berth in CBL action. The other five play out their season morning, yawning or screaming that famed cry, "Wait'll next year!"

Mediocrity is bred; thus when the time comes for a team to go into post-season action, that mediocrity, that factor of having had only two or three tough matches takes its toll, and the athletes who put in so much go home. If that athlete is a senior, that may be his last hurrah.

Figures quoted in the last Long on Sports column for the amount of money paid to televise the Olympic Games of Moscow and Los Angeles (1984) were incorrect. Correct figures, $100 million for NBC to televise the Moscow games, not $225 million. Also, ABC paid $225 million to televise the LA games, not $400 million. We apologize to all parties concerned for this grossly incorrect set of facts.

Cyclists trek to Anaheim in battle for championship

by Ron Holyfield

Over 40,000 spectators will be on hand to watch the pros of motocross battle it out during the motocross finals at Anaheim Stadium Saturday night.

This is the main highlight for this weekend, but it will not be the only event here.

Today at 5 p.m. and going on all weekend will be a motorcycle show, the first showing of all the 1980 dirt and street motorcycles. Then at 6:30 p.m. the World Championship speedway qualifier will begin. The motocross finals will start at 8 p.m. the following day.

Also Doug Domokos, the Wheelie King, will try to wheelie all the way around the motocross track. Then on Sunday at 8 p.m., amateur motocross will begin.

The Triplecross of Supercross is a series of three races. It starts at Atlanta, then to LA to the Superbowl of Motocross and ending up at Anaheim.

Bob Hannah won at Atlanta and Mark Barnett won at the Superbowl. The finals could be anybody's win with Hannah out with a broken leg. With Kent Horterton, Darrell Schultz and Mark Barnett leading the point standings and Gaylon Mosier, defending champ, Mike Bell, Jim Wiener, Marty Tripes, and Brad Lackey close behind, almost anyone could win.

At the Speedway world championship qualifier there will be such people as Alan Christian, Gene Woods, Dave Sims, Kelly Moran, Scott Autry, and Bruce Penthall.

Tickets may be sold out, but if Ticketron has any, prices range from about $9 to $25.

Prudential
Insurance Co. of America
The Prudential Insurance Company of America
Bernie Alvarez District Agent
1101 North Euclid Avenue
Upland, California 91786
Office: 822-8094
Residence: 874-4166

reprinted from Motorcross Action
Carter's Antiques Too
249 W. Foothill
Rialto Ca 92376
This & That
Now & Then
Collectables & Antiques
Don & Peg
874-7380

Trouble--makers urged to shape up

In past years the conduct of crowds at pep rallies was usually nothing to be proud of. In keeping with tradition this year to be no better.

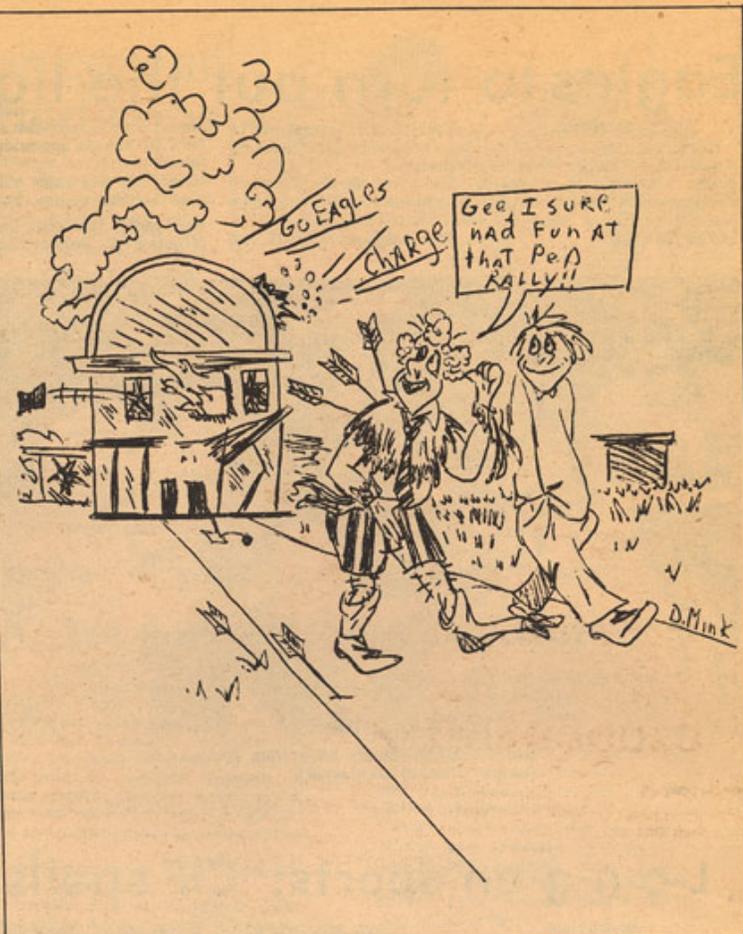

The usual howling, yelling and disturbances seems to be the same, if not more abundant this year. Take for example, the yearbook assembly. People sitting at the top of the gym bleachers started throwing things at the people below during the slide presentation. Mr. Kinser warned them that the assembly would be cancelled on the spot if this continued. It did, and the presentation was cancelled, much to the dismay of everyone else.

That was not the only incident this year. The noisy crowd at the homecoming queen candidate assembly caused the program to be halted several times before the end. The homecoming assembly was even worse. The crowd there got so rowdy as to throw metal staples at the band and caused damage to some of the instruments, which prompted the band director to say that the band might not play at any more rallies if this kind of conduct continues.

Which brings on another point. Audience conduct during the performances of the cheerleaders and the pep squad is downright childish. Pep squad should be commended for having to put up with the crowd's yelling and jeering while trying to promote school spirit.

It would seem that the only logical solution to the problem would be to place teachers or maybe even football players in designated positions to supervise the crowds and see that everything runs smoothly, which would be, in a sense, babysitting.

The only way out of that alternative would be to urge the trouble-makers not to show up in the first place if they cannot shape up and act like civilized people.

Go to school, stay out of trouble, get $ paid

Attendance problems would be solved if students were paid to go to school.

This idea has already been tried successfully in the East and it probably would be ideal for Rialto.

The pay would be small—maybe $3 a day for high school students, $2 for junior highs, and $1 for elementary school kids. Of course, rules would be made, like to get paid for the day you would have to attend every class, you could not be failing, and you could not be causing any serious discipline problems if you wanted to get paid.

Attendance rise and not too much ditching would be going on, and since the district receives from the state about $8.16 per day per student attending, the district would probably break even on this deal as well as helping the community.

The free lunch program could be dropped completely since those students could afford to buy their own lunch every day (and maybe help out the family, too.) Parents would save money since they would not be obligated to give allowances.

There would be an influx of money in Rialto economy.

It would also cut down on shoplifting since students could afford to buy instead of steal. This whole idea may have some flaws, but it probably would be beneficial to all involved.

by Judd St. John

Democratic primary promises to be extravaganza

It seems apparent that the 1980 Democratic primaries and convention will have all the color and pageantry of the last three ('68, '72 and '76).

Is it really that necessary for all this to happen, anyway? It only shows the voters there's not one strong candidate who could easily win the primaries, the nomination and victory over the Republican nominee in November.

This year's extravaganza puts the two leading candidates for the nomination, a southern peanut farmer who came from almost total obscurity to the '76 election, and a member of the legendary family that has been the focal point of Democratic politics for many years. We're talking about President Jimmy Carter of Georgia and Senator Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Senator Kennedy's qualifications easily show that he is the only man who can strongly unite the party and take it to certain victory in November, while in the process of overthrowing the conservative Democrats in Congress.

Carter's critics claimed from the beginning that his inexperience in Washington politics would damage his performance in the White House. This prediction has been holding true.

Carter's handling of foreign policy has been the worst in recent memory. This country has been embarrassed in every corner of the globe. The debacle in Iran last February is a prime example of inexperience. His handling of the Cuban crisis has been just as bad.

Senator Kennedy is a legend in his own right (a trait he inherited from his brothers, John and Robert). His chances of being president are far greater now than in recent years. The call from Democratic leaders for him to run shows the party's confidence in his wisdom and judgment.

Two major stumbling blocks in his presidential ambitions have been put aside with the unexpected blessings of both his mother and his wife.

Of course, President Carter is expected to put on a strong effort to get the nomination, but the circus-like handling of his administration and domestic problems (with inflation higher now than in '76) assures that Kennedy is the only hope left if the Democrats intend to keep the White House for another four years.

Who needs Governor Jerry Brown? by Tom Martin

Your one vote can make a real big difference at the election polls

How important is your vote?

If you think it is just something contributing to the overall good of our country, well that's fine. But you must think of its importance to you also. Some people think that their vote doesn't count. Not so!

In 1776, one vote gave America the English language instead of German.

In 1868, one vote brought Texas in to the Union.

In 1845, one vote saved President Andrew Johnson from impeachment.

In 1923, one vote gave Adolph Hitler leadership over the Nazi Party.

To get the right to vote, you must register.

Many people don't even register because of laziness, lack of interest, or not realizing the importance of their vote. You must be concerned about this country's future. Our system has been saved by the concern for such things as honesty, peace and fair play in the law.

With liberty and freedom comes responsibility. By registering to vote, you are showing your intention of being a true American. But only by voting can you prove it.

So remember, those of you who will be 18 by the 1980 elections. Stop and think about the importance to yourself, and REGISTER! The deadline to register is 29 days before the election date, according to the San Bernardino County Registrar of Voters.

by Mike Stockfish

Eagle's eye

All American National Scholastic Press Association
Medalist Columbia Scholastic Press Association
George H. Gallup Award—Quill and Scroll

Co-editors
Jenny Rogers and Darryl Delgado
Editorial Board

Darryl Delgado—News editor Jenny Rogers—Entertainment editor and student council representative	Rick Sanchez—Editorial editor Jim Long—Sports editor
--	---

Staff

Jon Ferguson, co news editor; Jon English and Jim Raymond, co-features editor; Toni Brito, asst. sports editor; Nancy Carranza, asst. features editor; Derek Bullmen, staff writer; Milinda Brooks and Laura Dobbs, advertising managers; Janet Moore, typesetter	Leona Bervais, asst. business manager and typesetter; Traci Worsham, asst. editorial editor and business manager; April Williams, asst. page editor; Linda Robertson, asst. page editor Jolyn Bellamy, staff assistant; Jackie Bodde, artist and typesetter Joyce Miller, adviser
---	---

Published bi-weekly during the school year by the journalism classes of Eisenhower High School at 1211 N. Lila, Rialto, California 92576.
Free to all ESN members. Advertising rates: $2.25 per column inch; classified, 25 cents for 10 words.
Letters to the editor must be signed and not more than 250 words in length. They must be turned in one week before publication date. Staff reserves right to edit all letters.
Unsigned editorials represent the opinions of the Eagle's Eye staff.